

Northwestern Mutual sells Russell for $2.7 billion

MILWAUKEE, Dec. 3, 2014 /PRNewswire/ -- Northwestern Mutual has completed a $2.7 billion sale of its subsidiary Frank Russell Company (also known as Russell Investments) to the London Stock Exchange Group plc. Proceeds from the sale, which closed today, will further boost the 2014 financial results of the Milwaukee-based mutual company.

"Russell has been a good investment for us," said John Schlifske, chairman and CEO of Northwestern Mutual. "Russell's operating results have made significant contributions to our financial results over the years. When you look at this sale price and the income produced for us since we bought Russell in 1999, you get a rate of return well in excess of equity indices over that period."

Northwestern Mutual manages more than $184 billion (YE 2013) in invested assets as part of its general account investment portfolio, which backs its insurance and annuity products.

Goldman, Sachs & Co. and J.P. Morgan Securities LLC acted as financial advisors to Northwestern Mutual on this transaction.
