Company to sponsor annual National Hispanic Corporate Council Summit hosted in Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE, May 16, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Northwestern Mutual is committed to fostering diversity and inclusion throughout all aspects of its business. To support this, the company is hosting the National Hispanic Corporate Council (NHCC) 2018 Annual Member Summit, held in Milwaukee on May 16-17.

The NHCC brings together leading companies to build a collaborative community that shares resources, knowledge, best practices and innovative solutions to grow talent, customers and suppliers. The summit, Advancing Hispanic Talent & Driving Consumer Growth: Trends Impacting a $2 Trillion Market, will feature workplace and marketplace sessions centered on how companies that strongly champion diversity and inclusion initiatives better compete in the U.S. Hispanic talent and consumer markets.

"Our commitment to diversity and inclusion has been essential to build a strong core of Hispanic employees and leadership within our company, at headquarters as well as our offices throughout the U.S." said Chris Meece, director of Hispanic market strategy at Northwestern Mutual. "Hosting this year's annual summit provides us a great opportunity to bring community and corporate leaders together to share insights that will help us all positively impact this important market."

Ray Manista, Executive Vice President - Chief Legal Officer & Secretary for Northwestern Mutual will deliver welcome remarks. Several other Northwestern Mutual executives and financial advisors will share best practices during a variety of sessions throughout the event, including The Hispanic Marketing Opportunity: A Look at Northwestern Mutual Hispanic Market Strategy and Transforming Employee Resource Group into Business Resource Group: Aligning the Group with the Business' Goals.

The company also recently conducted a survey among Hispanic small business owners to better understand their top motivations and financial priorities. The survey results revealed that, while 85 percent of business owners feel confident in the management of their businesses' finances, 37 percent feel their confidence would improve if they established a long-term financial plan.
