

Northwestern Mutual Recognizes the Power of Friendship During Childhood Cancer Awareness Month

Digital bracelets to benefit Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 10, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- During Childhood Cancer Awareness Month in September, Northwestern Mutual, through its Foundation, is continuing to raise awareness and funding for the fight against childhood cancer by tapping into the power of friendship. The company is launching a digital friendship bracelet platform to call on people to create and share bracelets to raise funds for childhood cancer. For every digital bracelet created, Northwestern Mutual will donate $1 to Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation (ALSF) to fund research to find better treatments and cures for childhood cancer.

"The exchange of friendship bracelets for children can create memories and moments of bliss," said Eric Christophersen, president of the Northwestern Mutual Foundation. "For those children who are impacted by cancer, creating these joyful memories can be uncertain. The more bracelets that people create and share will allow more funds for research and ultimately a cure."

More bracelets will allow additional funding for research, which increases opportunities for children with cancer to enjoy life's everyday moments and milestones.

"We're thrilled Northwestern Mutual and its Foundation are honoring Childhood Cancer Awareness month in a meaningful way," said Liz Scott, co-executive director of ALSF. "Northwestern Mutual's continued support has truly made a difference in the lives of kids with cancer and their families."

Launched in 2012, Northwestern Mutual's Childhood Cancer Program was developed to find cures, while also providing family and patient support and aid to survivors who struggle with the long-term effects of treatment. The program has contributed more than $20 million to the cause with the help of its employees and financial advisors nationwide, funding more than 240,000 hours of research and leveraging nonprofit partners - including camps and retreats - to help more kids and families live to the fullest.

Northwestern Mutual will also highlight Childhood Cancer Awareness Month through a variety of efforts including:

- Beads of Courage Origami Cranes: Through its partnership with Beads of Courage, a nonprofit organization that provides art-in-medicine programs that help children and teens coping with cancer record, tell, and own their stories using colorful beads as meaningful symbols of courage and hope along their treatment journey. Northwestern Mutual employees have created 1,000 Origami Crane bead strings to be distributed by Beads of Courage to kids with cancer across the United States.
- Going Gold in September: The company will illuminate its Milwaukee campuses gold, the color of childhood cancer, throughout the month to raising awareness of the cause.
- The Million Mile: Employees are turning awareness into action, by joining The Million Mile Northwestern Mutual Team. Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation has the goal to collectively walk, run or ride 1 million miles and raise over $1 million during September.

About Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation

Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation (ALSF) emerged from the front yard lemonade stand of cancer patient Alexandra "Alex" Scott (1996-2004). In 2000, 4-year-old Alex announced that she wanted to hold a lemonade stand to raise money to help find a cure for all children with cancer. Since Alex held that first stand, the Foundation bearing her name has evolved into a national fundraising movement, complete with thousands of supporters across the country carrying on her legacy of hope. To date, Alex's Lemonade Stand Foundation, a registered 501(c)3 charity, has raised more than $150 million toward fulfilling Alex's dream of finding a cure, funding over 800 pediatric cancer research projects nationally. In addition, ALSF provides support to families affected by childhood cancer through programs such as Travel For Care and SuperSibs.
