

Northwestern Mutual Announces Second Annual Ultimate Campout Fighting Childhood Cancer

Families affected by childhood cancer to participate in a unique sleepover at Titledown, neighboring Lambeau Field

MILWAUKEE, May 23, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Northwestern Mutual announced today it will once again deliver a unique campout experience to families affected by childhood cancer. The Ultimate Campout Fighting Childhood Cancer event, hosted by the Northwestern Mutual Foundation in partnership with the Green Bay Packers, will bring together hundreds of kids and their families to make connections, share experiences and create unforgettable memories.

This year's event will take place June 28-29, 2019 and will be hosted at the Packers' new Titledown community development, a unique location neighboring historic Lambeau Field in Green Bay, Wisconsin, that features a large public park with outdoor games and exclusive activities.

Children and families affected by childhood cancer often find themselves lacking supportive communities that understand their treatment and emotional needs. The summer pastime of camping out with loved ones offers children carefree experiences and instills a sense of adventure. While these activities aren't always feasible for families whose kids are battling cancer, the Ultimate Campout will provide a safe-haven and allow attendees to focus on spending time together as families, as well as meeting others who have overcome or are facing similar obstacles.

"Childhood cancer knows no boundaries; the disease has an enormous impact on all aspects of daily life for children and families, especially the precious childhood moments that make a kid feel like a kid," said Eric Christophersen, president of the Northwestern Mutual Foundation. "Camping out provides children and families a sense of freedom amidst times of hardship. Titledown is the perfect location for this inspirational event, and we're grateful to the Packers organization for their shared passion for supporting these families."

The Ultimate Campout will bring together childhood cancer patients, survivors and medical professionals nationwide for a camp experience combining recreation and respite while enabling hope and joy. A variety of activities will be available throughout the two-day event, including arts and crafts, outdoor games, a VIP behind-the-scenes tour of Lambeau Field and an evening outdoor movie screening.

"We are proud to join Northwestern Mutual in creating a one-of-a-kind camp experience to support and encourage children and their families who are battling childhood cancer," said Packers President/CEO Mark Murphy. "Titledown offers the ideal place for these families to connect and make new memories, and we're looking forward to being part of this special event."

Since 2012, the Northwestern Mutual Foundation has contributed more than $20 million for the cause, funding more than 240,000 hours of research, accelerating the search for pediatric cancer cures and providing family and survivor support.
