

Northwestern Mutual To Pay Policyowners Largest Ever, Industry-Leading $6 Billion Dividend Payout

Continues record of annual dividend payout to policyowners every year since 1872

MILWAUKEE, Oct. 31, 2019 /PRNewswire/ -- Northwestern Mutual announced today that its policyowners will receive an estimated $6 billion through the company's 2020 dividend payout. This is expected to both lead the insurance industry and be the highest in the company's history. The company credits this record payout as a result of its careful business management – keeping expenses low, ensuring sound underwriting and investing wisely.

"For more than 160 years, we've delivered long-term financial security for our policyowners – empowering them to live the life they choose," said John E. Schlifske, chairman, president and CEO of Northwestern Mutual. "Once again, we've remained steadfast in our commitment to our policyowners – including sharing our success through dividends."

Policyowners who receive dividends (i.e. owners of whole life insurance, term insurance, disability insurance, and many annuity products) have several options for how to use their annual dividends, including increasing the accumulated value of their life policy, reducing the cost of their premiums, or taking their dividend in cash.

Business Highlights

Stewardship of the business is critical to Northwestern Mutual's continued ability to pay annual dividends. The business is stronger than ever, and key contributing factors include:

- Mortality and expense experience: Seventy percent (nearly $3.8 billion) of the expected 2020 life dividend payout is based on our mortality and expense experience.
- Investment performance: The company's General Account portfolio contributed almost one-third (over $1.5B) of the expected 2020 life dividend payout.
- Client experience: Northwestern Mutual reimagined its core life insurance product with the recent launch of the simplified, highly customizable Whole Life Plus. It has also streamlined the application process and reduced underwriting approval time for applicants for life insurance and now disability products.
- Financial strength: Northwestern Mutual aims to pay the highest level of dividends possible while upholding its unquestionable financial strength. The company has the highest financial strength ratings awarded to any U.S. life insurer, including recent reaffirmations by Moody's, S&P Global Ratings and Fitch Ratings.
