

Northwestern Mutual Named to the Diversity Best Practices Inclusion Index

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 18, 2020 /PRNewswire/ -- Northwestern Mutual announced today that the company earned a place in Working Mother Media's Diversity Best Practices (DBP) Inclusion Index. The index evaluates participants in three key areas: best practices in the recruitment, retention and advancement of people from underrepresented groups; inclusive corporate culture, including leadership accountability; and demographic diversity for women and people from historically underserved races and ethnicities.

Now in its fourth year, the index is designed to help organizations understand trends and gaps in demographic representation, create a road map to drive internal change, and identify diversity, equity and inclusion (DE&I) solutions to close the gaps. This year, Northwestern Mutual was one of only 98 organizations that earned a place on the index.

"As we continue to build on our inclusive environment, we're pleased to be recognized as part of the Diversity Best Practices Inclusion Index," said Amy Hanneman, vice president of diversity and inclusion, Northwestern Mutual. "We're committed to continuous learning, progress and – most importantly – action in this space to ensure all our colleagues and clients know: you belong at Northwestern Mutual."

This award is recognition of Northwestern Mutual's continued commitment to expand its efforts in diversity and inclusion. The company: recently announced its second consecutive perfect score on the Disability Equality Index; received a perfect score on the 2020 Human Rights Campaign's Corporate Equality Index for the sixth consecutive year; and was recognized as one of the Best Employers for Diversity by Forbes Magazine in January 2020.
