

Northwestern Mutual's Kamilah Williams-Kemp Named to Black Enterprise's "Most Powerful Women in Business" List

MILWAUKEE — March 15, 2019 — Black Enterprise, the leading business, investing and wealth-building magazine for African-Americans, has selected Kamilah Williams-Kemp, vice president of new business for Northwestern Mutual, as one of its 2019 Most Powerful Women in Business. This is the second time Kamilah has been honored with this award, having first received it in 2017.

The award recognizes 136 of the country's highest-ranking and most influential female African-American executives in corporate America.

Kamilah received the accolade for her work as President and CEO of the Northwestern Long Term Care Company. In this role, she excelled as a strategic and innovative industry thought leader for caregiving and financial security. Since 2015, Kamilah led the long-term care product vision and strategy, managed product line performance and oversaw long-term care operations for the company. She was recently named to her current role in February.

"Kamilah leads by example with her constant pursuit for excellence. She is an invaluable champion and driver of our company's diversity and inclusion commitments, and she inspires colleagues of all backgrounds to bring their best authentic selves to work," said John Grogan, executive vice president, Insurance Products and Client Services at Northwestern Mutual.

Kamilah joined Northwestern Mutual in 1999 as an underwriter in the Disability Income department and has since held several leadership roles throughout the company.

In 2016 she was recognized as one of the Top 100 Most Influential Blacks in Corporate America by Savoy Magazine and was featured in the Winter 2016/Spring 2017 issue of African American Career World Magazine as a Top African American Business Leader.
