"Congratulations to Matt LoGuercio for his exceptional picks in winning the NCAA® Men's Ice Hockey Bracket Contest presented by Northwestern Mutual," said Conrad York, vice president of marketing at Northwestern Mutual. "We were so pleased to see the enthusiasm of NCAA hockey fans for this contest. We look forward to sharing that excitement with our customers and fans with future contests including men's lacrosse and softball."

Beginning on March 25, Northwestern Mutual gave fans the opportunity to fill out their brackets to predict the winners of the 2013 NCAA Division I Men's Ice Hockey Championship. The contest was part of a series by the NCAA Corporate Partner to extend excitement throughout all championship seasons.

"When I saw that Northwestern Mutual had created the men's ice hockey bracket contest, all I could think was, 'It's about time!'" said LoGuercio. "I'm very passionate about hockey so it was natural for me to participate, and I couldn't be more thrilled to have won."

A hockey fanatic to the core, LoGuercio's passion for the sport led him to accurately pick the teams participating in the Men's Frozen Four® and come out on top with one of the highest scores in the contest. LoGuercio has been involved in hockey in various capacities for more than 34 years, from youth and college to amateur leagues. His love for the sport has even rubbed off on his son, who LoGuercio coaches on his youth team, and who has already selected the hockey jersey he would like his dad to buy him using his NCAA Shop gift card.

In addition to softball and men's lacrosse in May, Northwestern Mutual will introduce NCAA bracket contests on Facebook throughout 2013, including baseball in June and women's soccer in December.
