MILWAUKEE, Dec. 4, 2014 /PRNewswire/ -- Northwestern Mutual, presenting sponsor of the Rose Bowl Game, today announced it will stage two floats in the legendary Tournament of Roses ® Rose Parade Jan. 1 in Pasadena - the first time in Rose Parade history that a presenting sponsor of the game is also featured in the parade.

In keeping with this year's parade theme of "Inspiring Stories," Northwestern Mutual will dedicate one float, "Celebrating Greatness," to the "Granddaddy of Them All ®," the famed Rose Bowl Game. The second float, "Inspiring Potential," showcases shared values of Northwestern Mutual and the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA ®) in helping others reach their full potential. Both floats are being created in partnership with Fiesta Parade Floats.

"Northwestern Mutual is a company with a strong tradition and storied history, and we are rooted in many of the same values as the Tournament of Roses and NCAA - teamwork, planning, strength, honor and discipline," said Conrad York, vice president of marketing at Northwestern Mutual. "As a company that believes in inspiring others to reach their full potential, it's only fitting that we embrace this year's parade theme of 'Inspiring Stories.' We are proud to be the presenting sponsor of the Rose Bowl Game and to bring our shared values to life with these two dynamic parade floats."

Celebrating Greatness

The "Celebrating Greatness" float pays tribute to the 101st Rose Bowl Game presented by Northwestern Mutual by highlighting the unforgettable moments that happen on the game's biggest stage. The float will pay homage to the rich history of the game while also providing an exciting glimpse of the game's future with Northwestern Mutual as part of the inaugural year of the College Football Playoffs.

Inspiring Potential

The "Inspiring Potential" float showcases how current NCAA student-athletes embody Northwestern Mutual's core values of hard work, discipline, teamwork and planning. Northwestern Mutual, in partnership with the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics (NACDA), selected six current NCAA student-athletes from Universities across the U.S. to feature on the float. Each student-athlete will also receive a $5,000 scholarship from Northwestern Mutual for sharing their own inspiring stories of perseverance and commitment.

"NACDA is honored to partner with Northwestern Mutual on this year's 'Inspiring Potential' Rose Bowl Parade float," said Bob Vecchione, executive director at NACDA. "This is a unique opportunity for NACDA to assist Northwestern Mutual in providing a platform to showcase NCAA student-athletes."

In addition to the six student-athletes, the float will feature three professionals who have proven how their former student-athlete NCAA experience has led them to successful careers beyond sports.

"We are thrilled that Northwestern Mutual is bringing not one, but two outstanding floats to the Rose Parade," said Rich Chinen, president of the Tournament of Roses. "The ideas of 'Inspiring Potential' and 'Celebrating Greatness' wonderfully demonstrate this year's parade theme of Inspiring Stories. We hope parade viewers will enjoy this narrative brought to life."

2015 marks Northwestern Mutual's inaugural year as Presenting Sponsor of the Rose Bowl Game. This sponsorship will extend through 2020, with the Rose Bowl Game serving as host of the College Football Playoff Semifinal both in 2015 and in 2018. In years when the Rose Bowl Game does not host a Playoff Semifinal, the game will feature its traditional match-up between the top teams in the Big Ten and Pac-12 that are not competing in a semifinal.
